The Corpus Christi-Nueces County Public Health District reports they have received guidance from the Centers for Disease Control on the first batch of the H1N1 vaccine they will be receiving will be in nasal spray form for people over the age of four.

Dr. William Burgin, Jr., Local Health Authority for the Health District, states they received the information late yesterday. No other details about the first shipment are available at this time. Dr. Burgin states in addition to the first shipment, they expect to receive additional shipments in the weeks to follow.

“We do expect to receive some H1N1 vaccine in the injection form, we just don’t know at this time when we will be receiving it,” adds Dr. Burgin.

The Health District will continue to keep the public informed as they receive more details concerning the H1N1 Vaccine.
